

NATIONAL PRESIDENT'S RECOGNITION PROGRAM

Purpose

The Scoutreach National President's Recognition Program honors select urban and rural youth-serving executives for their outstanding achievements in unit and membership growth and increased quality units in a Scoutreach area.

Nominating Procedures

Youth-serving executives are nominated by Scout executives and approved by the regional directors. The nominee must serve a diverse population in an urban or rural district. The district must qualify for the Quality District Award or the nominee must have qualified for the CSE's Winners Circle in 2005. The nominee must have shown outstanding performance in the use of Scouting to fit the needs of an urban or rural community.

Recognition

The regions will select the top 32 Scoutreach executives across America based on extending traditional Scouting to every neighborhood in America. Eight executives will be selected from each region. The recognition will take place every other year, beginning in 2006. The chosen executives and their spouses are invited to the National Annual Meeting as guests of Milt and Adele Ward. The National Council pays all expenses for recipients and their spouses.

Recipients will attend the Americanism Breakfast, Leadership Lunch, National Annual Business Meeting, Closing Banquet, and a special dinner for recipients. A special session will be held with the honored executives and selected National Council divisions. At this session, the executives will share information about factors that contributed to their success and suggest how the National Council can better support their efforts.
